

Wings Of An Angel

Some say life is just a passing game
So many variables here we cannot see
Yet with each and every falling leaf
I sense a grace which placed me here

If I could fly on the wings of an angel
Maybe I could see once again
If I could fly on the wings of an angel
Maybe I could see once again

Now I find with each passing day
The joy that is to be
Acceptance comes my way
Like the leaves that fall from a tree
When autumn comes, will I wait for spring

If I could fly on the wings of an angel
Maybe I could see once again
If I could fly on the wings of an angel
Maybe I could see once again

I will take the path

To were the river runs free
Let the water wash over me
Wash over me

Eyes

Eyes that face deception
Eyes that look away
When truth reveals its anger
Is there nothing left to say

Eyes that foresee glory
In the coming of the dawn
Eyes that lay unawakened
When the shadow meets the storm

Oh eye to eye, we slowly turn away
Is there nothing left between us
Nothing left to say

Eyes that hold the answer
Though nothing has been said

Eyes that hold the secret
The magician shakes his head

Eyes that face deception
Eyes that look away
When truth reveals its anger
Is there nothing left to say

Waiting For The Light

I've been waiting for a long
I guess I knew just who you were Soul brother, soul sister, keep on moving
Across the edge of time

Standing in a moment of darkness
I guess we're waiting for the storm
When hands touch in the meeting of shadows
Waiting for the light to reappear

Soul brother, soul sister, keep on moving
Feel the rhythm of the Earth beneath your feet
I'm looking for something to believe in

Just as far as my eyes can see

Standing in a moment of darkness
I guess we're waiting for the storm
When hands touch in the meeting of shadows
Waiting for the light to reappear

Eden

There a hardness in the hearts of too many people
A slyness in the eye that doesn't stand still
If we could only see the beauty that surrounds us
The empowerment of love is what we would feel

I reach out my hands to all my relations
I reach out my hands to the Earth and the sky
I reach out my hands to that which lies before us
I honour the Earth, our mother, one more time

Let our love complete the circle
Let us embrace the coming of time
Let us walk in the garden together

I will be yours and you will be mine

Hands Of Time

If I could take the hands of time
Walk slowly down this line
Would I change much, I don't know

Take a pebble from this beach
Some say a wise man speaks
Maybe you can hear him, I don't know

When that which was turns around
Maybe when the circle's found
When all that was is yet to be
The stillness calls you and me

Against the ticking of the clock
When all motion seems to stop
The stillness will call you and me

Found My Soul

Now I see her beauty
With every curve, every breath
Touching the movement
With every caress
Now I see beauty
And my soul is alive
Awakened to spirit
The great one smiles

Oh I have found my soul

Now I see her beauty
In the longing of her thighs
When time and timelessness are reconciled
Now I see the magic in the Shaman's eyes
The wisdom of the poet
And the stillness of the night

Oh I have found my soul

And now I take this moment with an open hand

To the blessing which lie before us
And the joy which love brings
With oneness of spirit
And the mindfulness of soul
We awaken to the journey
As the lotus unfolds

Oh I have found my soul

The Magician

Who's this magician, brings you dreams of rainbows
Casting shadows through pink lace curtains on the floor
Who's this magician, brings so many lovers
Flowers for your heart, thorns upon my floor

You will tell me, some forgotten secret
But you, you are mute, and I cannot hear
Yes you will tell me, some forgotten secret
The door it opens slowly, and what was, is not there

Come take my hand now
To a place in the night
Where shadows meet the morning
And greet daylight
Come take my hand now
Show me where you've been Open up your heart
Show me the dream

Strong Foundation

Hey mister business man
In your smart city suit
Looking for money
In everything you do

I gotta strong foundation, when the Lord calls
my name

Hey little brother

Little sister too
Can't you hear him calling
Calling me and you

I gotta strong foundation, when the Lord calls
my name

Sometimes when I turn
The Devil faces me
With disillusion on our streets
And kids who think they're free
With drugs and prostitution and knives and guns
Sometimes when I turn, the Devil starts to run

I gotta strong foundation, when the Lord calls
my name

Waiting for the spirit
Spirit set me free
Waiting for the water
Washing over me

I gotta strong foundation, when the Lord calls
my name

Open Road

There's an open road before me
And I'm looking straight ahead

Hope has brought to this journey
Grace gonna lead me home

Rhythm of the ocean, movement of the sand
It's the joy that I feel, when I hold the Maker's hand

Silence Between The Lines

There's a silence, between the lines
A look of desperation in somebody's eyes
I just don't know, which way to turn
Don't rip me up, don't let me burn

You gotta let me in your heart baby
You gotta learn to surrender
To much sadness, pass between us now

You gotta let the daylight in

There's an emptiness that's, deep inside
Nowhere to run and there is, nowhere to hide
I hold out my hand but there's no one there
Echoes in the darkness, voices of despair

Let Our Love Be

Time ticks by so slowly
Like the waving of a hand
Is it I who am calling
Or am I at your command

Would I challenge armies?
Or set sail to the sea
Or embrace you softly
And let our love be

And maybe there's an instance
Or a movement within time
Where the echo is repeated
Did we catch it this time

What You Gonna Do?

Dresses like a priestess
Dances to the sun and moon
She'll roll you just like a river
Reveal the essence of your heart

What you gonna do
When love comes over you

Tells you she's a dreamer
A giver of gifts and charms
Tells you she's a wanderer
From a distant shore

What you gonna do
When love comes over you

And in time she will beckon
Take you in her arms
She will know your secret places
All your secret thoughts